Along side fundamental requirements that can be defined as flexible and functional workspaces, the various needs and the desires of self-expression of users who has management within their job description should be addressed with unique solutions. The value that executives want to see in workspaces with clean details and simple design throughout their interactions with both their employees and their social circles is symbolized in Note Desk.

On the surface of this work, users can make installations to solve meeting needs. With console, cupboard and coffee table options, extra work, storage and conversation areas can be created.

The striking effect of the aluminum feet separates to the point where it joins the working surface. The line upwards from the ground extends in its mid-point in its own language.
